

Middlebury's dynamic and global community relies heavily on thousands of alumni, parents, and friends who volunteer their time, resources and talents. These volunteers play a vital role in keeping the Middlebury community strong. Middlebury College appreciates your interest and commitment, and values your time and effort.

Here are some ways you can get involved – and stay involved – with Middlebury.

- Alumni Admissions Program Interviewer – Assist the Admissions staff in contacting applicants, providing information about the College, conducting interviews that are used in the decision-making process and encouraging admitted students to attend Middlebury.
- Regional Chapter Event Organizers – From Vermont to Tokyo, Middlebury chapters offer a way for groups of alumni in the same area to keep in touch and get together. It's never too late to engage with the College in your city or region, organize volunteer efforts, or simply have a good time with friends old and new!
- MiddNet Career Advisors – Join a searchable online database of 7,400 Middlebury alumni and parents who have volunteered to offer students and fellow alumni career advice about their industry or field
- Class Agents – Help the College raise current use funds by connecting with your classmates and encouraging their participation in the Annual Fund.
- Reunion Committee Members – Each year Reunion Weekend brings more than 1,600 alumni and families back to campus – be a part of making this celebration a success. As a volunteer, you'll reconnect with your classmates, encourage them to return to campus to celebrate reunion and ask them to consider making a gift to support Middlebury.
- Parents' Committee Members – Shape the life of current students by connecting with other parents and soliciting their participation in the Parents' Fund.
- Gamaliel Painter's Cane Society Volunteers – Support the College through life income gifts and by including Middlebury in your estate plans and encouraging others to join you.
