Student-Centered Public Speaking
Public speaking is widely acknowledged as a useful – even necessary – skill for a variety of pursuits that people value, including but not limited to: business, education, politics, and socializing. Public speaking workshops typically adopt a fixed, universal framework of a good speech for students to aspire to, and then encourage and give feedback to students toward that goal. In contrast, this workshop's pedagogy adopts a process-oriented, or “student-centered” approach, wherein we develop a unique speaking style and method that works for you. We will collectively experiment in an affirmative, supportive, environment as we learn ways to make public speaking fun and self-expressive. The workshop incorporates both discussion about public speaking in theory, and composition and performance of speeches using topics and formats that students care about.

MEETING: Monday, Wednesday; 4:15-5:45p
1/9, 1/11, 1/16, 1/18, 1/23, 1/25, 1/30, 2/1

Fountain Pens for Beginners
In this workshop, participants will learn the basics of practical fountain penning, in order to be able to use fountain pens in their everyday lives (taking notes in class, at work, and all other times a person might write). Specific topics covered will include the proper use of a fountain pen, care and maintenance, the difference between pens, inks, and customization of a fountain pen to match the individual writing preference. No prior knowledge or experience is assumed. Participants should wear clothing that can get ink on it, and be prepared to get inky. The pens we will use will not have calligraphy nibs, but rather nibs suitable for everyday writing. However, many fountain pens do have calligraphy nibs, and the material of this workshop would be relevant to those pens as well. As part of the fee for this workshop, each participant will receive a fountain pen, a bottle of ink (enough for several years), and several ink samples.

Latin Dance Immersion *
We will start by learning some of the basics for each style while also getting familiar with the context where each of these originated. The types of dance to explore in the workshop will range from the stereotypical salsa to the sensual bachata, including also merengue, cumbia, mambo, chachacha, tango, reguetón, etc. After getting a taste of the basics from each style, the group will select then a couple of these that they think they'll like to refine their dance skills on. WARNING: Bachata causes a sudden and prolonged increase in confidence, heart racing, uncontrollable singing, a feeling of ecstasy, and extreme sexiness. This course has been approved for PE.

Beer 101
Have you ever wondered what the difference is between a stout or a porter? Do you question if there's any actual difference between American pale ale and Indian pale ale? Have you ever wondered what a pilsner even is? If you answered yes to any of these questions, or you just like beer and want to learn more about it, this workshop is for you. In Beer 101, we will spend the month of January discussing what makes a beer a beer. Each week, we will learn about a different style of beer and how the brewing process can produce so many variations of one drink. The craft beer culture in Vermont is booming, and we will teach you to navigate it with confidence.

Short Film for Amateurs
Ever wanted to try your hand at screenwriting? Acting? Directing? Editing? Then you should really take a film course here before you graduate. But if that's not going to happen then, congratulations! This amateur workshop is for you! During our twice weekly 90 minute meetings we will write, film and edit at least one 2 to 5 minute short film. Roles and responsibilities will be determined based on what you want to do but also on what we need you to do as we'll be a small operation. No prior experience in film or acting is expected, so come with an open mind and make a movie this J-Term! Depending on the size of the "class," we may split off into two or three groups that will produce their own short films. The last day we will watch our film(s) and eat cookies.

Intro to Competitive Super Smash Bros Melee
Many have played this 2001 Gamecube fighting game for fun with their friends, but did you know that tournament-level Melee is one of the most intricate, technically demanding, and quickest-growing eSports in the world? Melee is a wonderful but daunting game for complete beginners. In this workshop, we'll start from square one and learn about everything from basic controls to advanced techniques (wavedashing, SHFFL aerials and dash dancing), to more abstract concepts (spacing, stage control, neutral game, edgeguarding) and even to character matchups (How should Marth play against Fox? How should Falco play against Peach?). We will have TVs, gamecubes, and SOME extra controllers. Please bring your own controller if you have one.

Introduction to Albanian
Mirësevini! Welcome to Albanian. This workshop will be a unique opportunity to gain some insight into a distinct language and culture, renowned for its hospitality. The focus of this workshop will be the study of Introductory Albanian, which belongs to the Indo-European family, where it forms a branch of its own. About 7 million people speak Albanian as their native language. It is the official language of two countries, and it is the first language of numerous minorities in other Balkan countries and some communities in southeast Italy. If studying a unique foreign language in a stress-free environment sounds fun to you, and you sometimes find yourself wishing Middlebury had a longer list of options when it comes to foreign languages and representing small regions of the world, this would be a perfect workshop for you! Once again - Mirësevini!
