NOTE: The calendar is subject to change.
Dear Middlebury Families,

Welcome to Fall Family Weekend! I’m delighted you could be here on campus to experience what life is like for your student at the College. I hope you will spend this weekend exploring, discovering, and connecting with us, with each other, and with the many opportunities this institution offers to your student.

In this booklet you’ll find a schedule of events that includes panel discussions, exhibits, athletic contests, lectures, and performances for you to enjoy throughout the weekend. I wanted to share a few highlights. On Friday, I invite you to our Fall Faculty Forum, a new session we started last year, where you can meet faculty and learn about their current research projects. This event will take place from 1:00 to 6:00 p.m. in various classrooms in Axinn Center at Starr Library.

I also want to encourage you to visit a class on Friday (refer to the list of classes open to visitors available online or at the Friday Parent Welcome Center), so you can see firsthand how our faculty and students engage with each other and with their course material.

On Sunday morning, I hope you can participate in our Relay for Life 5K Color Run. Runners and walkers of all abilities are welcome; entry fees will go to cancer research.

No matter what you do this weekend, I hope you enjoy visiting Middlebury during one of the most beautiful times of year and take in the natural beauty that surrounds us.

Best wishes,

[Signature]

11:00 p.m. Bread Loaf, Main Inn Lobby
8:00 a.m.  Open Classes
Choose any of the scheduled Friday classes and attend with or without your student. A complete list of classes, times, and instructors will be available at the Parents Welcome Center and may be viewed online approximately one week before Fall Family Weekend on the FFW website. If you wish to make an appointment with a particular professor, you may make arrangements through your student or by calling the appropriate academic department in advance.

11:00 a.m.–
1:00 p.m.  Drop-In Pop-Up Bookmaking in Special Collections,

“Mary Shelley’s Frankenstein”
Special Collections holds collections of rare books, manuscripts, photographs, films, and other unique materials that tell the Middlebury story and the stories of our collective past.

Join Special Collections staff for a pop-up bookmaking workshop in honor of current library exhibits celebrating the 200th anniversary of Mary Shelley’s Frankenstein.

Davis Family Library, Lower Level, Special Collections Reading Room

11:00 a.m.–
2:00 p.m.  Experience Lunch in a Dining Hall
Middlebury College Dining Services is hosting lunch for students and their families today for free. Please come and enjoy a festive fall meal with us!

Atwater, Proctor, and Ross Dining Halls

12:30–
1:30 p.m.  Panel of Students from Center for Career and Internships’s

Student Technology Trek to San Francisco
Student Treks connects students with multiple alumni and organizations during on-site visits and job-shadowing experiences. These fully funded CCI-led trips, typically hosted over breaks, are unique “living and learning” cohort experiences that provide the students with an opportunity to explore a particular field of interest.

After a weeklong “Tech Trek” to Silicon Valley, where they were immersed in daily job-shadowing experiences, site visits, reflection dinners, Q&A sessions, and receptions, our 10 Middlebury undergraduates returned to campus for the start of the spring semester with a better understanding of what it takes to land a job at Amazon, Facebook, Google, or other high-tech companies.

Center for Careers and Internships, Adirondack House
12:30–
1:30 p.m.  Reflection Friday with Erin Quinn, Director of Athletics

On selected Fridays each semester, the Center for Creativity, Innovation, and Social Entrepreneurship hosts reflective talks during which speakers discuss this question: “What matters to me, and why?” During these lunchtime talks, students and other members of the Middlebury community build community and reflect on their own “story of self.” Lunch provided for first 25 attendees.

Quinn is now in his 13th year as the school’s director of athletics, taking over the job in July of 2006. As director, Quinn has overseen development of student life initiatives, as well as significant facilities projects, including field renovations and the building of the squash center and Virtue Field House. He has also been involved with several local charities, volunteering time as well as fundraising.

McCardell Bicentennial Hall, Room 219

1:00–
1:40 p.m.  Islamic Jummah Prayer Services

Forest Hall, Islamic Prayer Space, Lower Level

1:00–
4:00 p.m.  The Knoll Open House

The Knoll, Middlebury College’s organic farm, is a three-acre plot with vegetables, fruits, and flowers stewarded by Middlebury students. The farm serves as an inclusive space that supports students’ holistic development in an environment that promotes discourse about world food issues. While growing rows of lettuce for Atwater Dining Hall or visiting Vermont farms, students come to understand the challenges associated with food production, but also explore and help develop local and organically based solutions.

The farm is located in the field behind McCardell Bicentennial Hall. Walk or drive down the hill (going west) from the College on Route 125 for a half-mile. Take a right at the “Knoll” sign. If you are driving, you can leave your car at the sign and walk the short dirt road to the farm.

1:00–
6:00 p.m.  Fall Faculty Forum

The Fall Faculty Forum will consist of several panels running during three 90-minute sessions at 1:00 p.m., 2:45 p.m., and 4:30 p.m. Each panel will consist of four to five faculty research presentations, followed by conversation with the audience.
Panels are interdisciplinary in scope but linked by theme, and each presentation will be accessible to nonexperts, including faculty, staff, parents, and students with a wide range of interests and backgrounds. Throughout the afternoon, visual art exhibits and screenings of faculty-produced creative work will also be scheduled. See schedule at sites.middlebury.edu/fallfacultyforum/program.

MiddCORE Information Session

MiddCORE is a four-week, mentor-powered innovation experience for students who desire to launch their education and passions into the world at large. Through immersive learning, real-world challenges, and one-on-one mentoring, students develop foundational skills in leadership, innovation, and collaboration—essential to today’s ever-changing work environments. Students can apply to take MiddCORE in January on Middlebury’s Vermont campus or in a residential summer program at Middlebury Institute of International Studies at Monterey. Learn more: middcore.middlebury.edu

McCardell Bicentennial Hall, Room 216

2:45 p.m.

Innovation Hub Open House

Leadership, creative thought, and intellectual risk taking—these are the skills the Center for Creativity, Innovation, and Social Entrepreneurship (Innovation Hub) helps Middlebury students develop through a multitude of opportunities on and off campus. The center includes MiddCORE, social entrepreneurship programs, creativity and innovation programs, Oratory Now programs, Global Health, and Professors of the Practice. The Hub provides opportunities for students to try new things, develop creative ideas, and learn to engage our local community and the world. Join faculty, staff, and current students involved with our programs, including TEDx Middlebury, the Social Entrepreneurship Fellowship, Old Stone Mill Incubator Space, and MiddCORE. We’ll have local Vermont apple cider and refreshments—bring your ideas and questions!

118 South Main Street (Route 30)
Vergil’s Aeneid Marathon Reading, First Day

The Eve Adler Department of Classics will sponsor a marathon reading of Vergil’s Aeneid. The Latin epic about the destruction of one civilization and the founding of another, Vergil’s Aeneid recounts the wanderings of the hero Aeneas from the ruins of Troy to the shores of Italy, and describes with moving detail the wars he must fight in order to establish a line of leaders that will eventually lead to the Roman Caesars. The reading, by both students and faculty, will continue to dusk each evening. Translation, laurel wreath, and baklava provided; please contact the Classics Department to sign up for a reading time.

Davis Family Library Steps

Meditation Walk in the Labyrinth

Please join Dean of Spiritual and Religious Life Mark Orten at the Knoll for a short walking meditation in the new labyrinth, a 2017 collaboration between the Scott Center for Spiritual and Religious Life and the Knoll to mark the 15th anniversary of the College’s organic garden.

The Knoll, Route 125

Cook Commons Fall Family Festival

Cook Commons welcomes parents back for the weekend with music, cider, apples, cider donuts, pumpkin carving, and a great time to meet and greet people to start off the weekend. All are welcome!

Lawn behind Forest Hall (Rain Location: Forest East and West Lounges)

Campus Trees Celebration!

Join us at Franklin Environmental Center for the very popular Campus Tree Tour led by passionate Middlebury horticulturalist and tree expert Tim Parsons. Learn fun facts and hear stories about various trees around campus. Tim will also explain how he manages our rural Vermont campus as an urban forest. Stick around after the tour to help with a tree planting and enjoy fresh local donuts and hot cider.

Franklin Environmental Center at Hillcrest, Front Porch
4:30– 6:00 p.m.
Paul W. Ward ’25 Memorial Prize
Come to the awards ceremony for the Paul W. Ward ’25 Memorial Prize in writing for the Class of 2021. The prize recognizes those second-year students whom the faculty judged to have produced outstanding essays in writing classes during their first year. Refreshments will be served. Please RSVP to the Center for Teaching, Learning, and Research at 802-443-3131 or email ctrl@middlebury.edu.

Lecture: Nadia Murad
Victims of Ethnic and Religious Violence in the Middle East
In 2014, 19-year-old Nadia Murad was enslaved by Islamic State fanatics who overran her village in Iraq, killing 600 members of the Yazidi Kurdish minority, including many members of her family. Since escaping from her captors, she has become a tireless advocate for religious minorities in Iraq and Syria. She is now the United Nations Goodwill Ambassador for the Dignity of Survivors of Human Trafficking. Her lecture will be live streamed to Dana Auditorium in the event that overflow seating is necessary.

McCullough Student Center, Wilson Hall

8:00 p.m.

9:30 a.m.–2:30 p.m. Snow Bowl Open House and Ski Lift Ride Benefit

Take a chairlift ride to the top of Worth Mountain and enjoy a breathtaking view! You’ll see Vermont dressed in fall splendor as the panoramic scene stretches from the Green Mountains to the Adirondacks across Lake Champlain.

Lift Rides: 9:30 a.m.–2:30 p.m., $5 for adults, $3 for children and students. Tickets are good for one round-trip ride (Snow Bowl 2018–19 season pass holders go free.) Last tickets sold at 2:30 p.m.

There will be a barbecue in full swing from 11:30 a.m.–3:30 p.m. at $10 per person. All proceeds go straight back to the Middlebury ski patrol and the Middlebury Snow Bowl. Live music will be FREE. (Fun is free too!) Come hang out with the Middlebury ski patrol, see some fall foliage from the lift, and support your local volunteer patrol and ski area. Event is rain or shine.

All are welcome to drive up on their own (just 20 minutes from campus), but free Addison County Transit (ACTR) shuttle buses will also be running between Adirondack Circle and the Snow Bowl. The bus will stop at the Bread Loaf Inn for those wishing to depart from or return to the Bread Loaf campus.

Middlebury College Snow Bowl, 6886 VT Route 125, Hancock, VT 05748

9:30–11:00 a.m. Center for Community Engagement (CCE) Open House

Stop by for coffee, bagels, and apple cider donuts, and learn about ways students can get involved with community, here and around the globe. Come hear from current students and CCE staff members!

Through classroom-community connections, democracy initiatives, volunteer opportunities, student service organizations, internships, and funding resources, students collaborate with communities (near and far), developing civic skills and dispositions. Signature programs include the Privilege & Poverty Academic Cluster, Middlebury Alternative Break Trips, Community Friends mentoring, Language in Motion, and the Japan Summer Service Learning program. The Center for Community Engagement helps fulfill Middlebury’s mission to create a transformative learning experience for our students and practice ethical citizenship.

DKE Alumni House, 20 Old Chapel Road
9:45–10:45 a.m. Programs Abroad and Language Schools Discussion
This session provides general information about the Middlebury Schools Abroad and the Middlebury Language Schools, with a discussion of how they fit into a student’s overall academic experience, how the application process works, and study abroad finances. There will be time for questions and discussion. Presented by Carlos Vélez, interim dean of international programs and professor of psychology.

11:00 a.m.–Noon Internships, Jobs, and Careers in Finance: What Your Student Needs to Know
The Center for Careers and Internships and the Student Investment Committee are pleased to host a panel of parent professionals to discuss careers in finance for liberal arts majors and the power of the Middlebury alumni/parent networks. Students as well as parents who currently work in the field or who are curious about careers in finance for their Middlebury students are encouraged to attend.

McCullough Student Center, Wilson Hall, Second Floor

11:00 a.m.–Noon Sushi and Social Change—Work on Purpose
The Center for Careers and Internships presents a unique Fall Family Weekend opportunity for students to network with parents who have worked to advance the common good—planned or through happenstance—whether through careers in the public, nonprofit, business, or environmental sectors, serving on boards, or volunteering. Whether it’s in public health, public interest law, the government, social services, community development, advocacy for better school lunches, or microfinance, this is an opportunity for our students to interact with professionals (parents!), promoting a deeper understanding of the different sectors while thinking about how to craft a career with a positive social impact. Parents, if this is your field or passion or even your hobby, please join us for some delicious sushi and help inspire and guide our students!

Adirondack House, Coltrane Lounge
Noon– 1:00 p.m.  Center for Careers and Internships (CCI) Open House
At Middlebury, students don’t just learn how to engage the world—they go out and do it. At the Center for Careers and Internships, we prepare students for great internship and job opportunities so they can apply their liberal arts learning beyond the classroom. Our advisors, programming, and resources focus on all areas of career exploration and specialize in areas that include the arts, media and entertainment, education, social impact, government and policy, STEM, law, health professions, and business. Stop by and meet the CCI team and learn how we help students explore what’s next.

Adirondack House, Library

MUSEUM CURRENT EXHIBITIONS

September 14–December 2, 2018
Wondrous Worlds:
Art and Islam through Time and Place
Christian A. Johnson Memorial Gallery
Featuring more than 100 outstanding works of art from the Newark Museum’s extraordinary collections, Wondrous Worlds will showcase the long history, vast geographic expanse, and amazing diversity of works of art in the Islamic world. Two factors distinguish this exhibition: first, the inclusion of works from Southeast Asia and East and West Africa, areas largely overlooked in most exhibitions of Islamic art; and second, modern and contemporary works are featured side-by-side with historic objects. Works in the exhibition cover nearly all media, ranging from carpets to dress to jewelry, ceramics, glass, metal, paintings, prints, calligraphy, and photographs. This exhibition will surprise viewers with dazzling works that span more than 1,400 years of artistry.

January 8–April 28, 2019
Modern and Contemporary Works from the Permanent Collection
Overbrook Gallery
This exhibition presents more than 30 works from the museum’s modern and contemporary collections, including video works by William Kentridge, Tracey Moffatt, and the Swiss team of Peter Fischli and David Weiss. Other artists include Banksy, Damian Hirst, Shazia Sikander, Dale Chihuly, Elizabeth Catlett, Andy Warhol, Kara Walker, and Dennis Byng.
Ongoing Off Campus

Exhibition: The Sheldon Relic Chair 1884/2018

In 1884, local historian Henry Sheldon built a “relic chair,” incorporating fragments of sites of local and historical significance (Middlebury’s Congregational Church, “Old Ironsides”). In 2018, students from Professor Ellery Foutch’s J-term class, American Material Culture in Focus, researched Sheldon’s chair and built their own chair, selecting “relics” to represent Middlebury today. This exhibition features the two chairs and the students’ research, along with a short student-made film about the project.

Open Tuesday–Saturday, 10:00 a.m.–5:00 p.m., Sundays 1:00–5:00 p.m. Admission: Adult $5.00; Youth (6–18) $3.00; Under 6 Free; Student with Current ID $4.00; Senior $4.50; Family $12.00
