2018 BREAD LOAF TEACHER NETWORK FELLOWSHIPS FOR EASTERN KENTUCKY PUBLIC SCHOOL TEACHERS

FELLOWSHIPS

The Middlebury Bread Loaf School of English (BLSE) will offer a limited number of $8,000 fellowships for eastern Kentucky public school teachers, to attend the School’s 2018 summer session. Preference will be given to new BLSE applicants. Fellows will take two graduate courses at one of Bread Loaf’s two U.S. campuses (one in Ripton, Vermont, the other in Santa Fe, New Mexico), to engage in dynamic explorations of literature, writing, and related areas and to ground themselves in content areas important to their teaching. Fellows will also become members of the Bread Loaf Teacher Network (BLTN), a nationally visible professional development network fostering innovative education and social action teaching and learning. Driven by the belief that students are education’s finest resources, BLTN teachers collaborate year-round with each other and their students on media-rich classroom projects and partnerships, with the shared goal of cultivating the leadership potential of students from underserved communities especially.

ELIGIBILITY

All fellowship applicants must be full-time teachers in an eastern Kentucky public school: they must have completed a minimum of one year of teaching by June 2018 and must be teaching in an eastern Kentucky school during the 2018-19 academic year. Applicants must also apply for admission to BLSE. Application fees and deposits will be waived.

OBLIGATIONS

• First-year fellows will attend the Bread Loaf campus in Vermont or New Mexico and take two graduate courses, including one designated Group I course in writing, pedagogy, or literacy.
• All fellows must participate in weekly BLTN campus meetings and plan two innovative pedagogical or research projects, to be carried out during the 2018-19 academic year in collaboration with other BLTN members.
• During the 2018-19 academic year, fellows must attend all meetings and participate in the activities of their BLTN state or local group.
• Fellows must submit three reports on their BLTN NextGen projects and activities.

Fellowship recipients will be chosen and notified on a rolling basis.
Vermont campus arrival day is Monday, June 25; classes end on Tuesday, August 7.
New Mexico campus arrival day is Saturday, June 16; classes end on Thursday, July 26.
