Greetings to the Class of ’69!

Can you believe that just over a year from now we will all be gathering for our 50th Reunion? Mark your calendars for June 6–9, 2019, and plan on coming!

Six of us will be coordinating various activities: Elinor Redmond and Peter Reynolds will be working on the social side of things; Linda Bouffard and George Pattison will be putting together our yearbook; and Mary Wendell and David Dodge will be plugging away at our class gift. And, yes, the planning has started, and people have already begun to volunteer to help. If you’re interested in becoming a volunteer, please let one of us know. Also plan on attending the Alumni Leadership Conference (October 18–21, 2018), where much of the planning takes place.

Most importantly, we want everybody back for our 50th, so please plan on coming, and encourage all the classmates you know to come back too. Our Reunions have always been a wonderful time—please join us. And by all means, let us know if you would like to help—the more the merrier.
Take Note!

Reunion 2019 will be a particularly special one, as we’ll be celebrating the golden jubilee of the Class of 1969. We are excited to welcome you back to campus to celebrate our shared history and future.

The celebration kicks off with the creation of your 50th class yearbook—stay tuned for a mailing later this summer. Be thinking about what you would like to include in your autobiography, and be watching for opportunities to capture those memorable family photos. The deadline will be early October.

If you have questions about or suggestions for the yearbook, please contact your committee coordinators, Linda Bouffard and George Pattison, or our staff liaison, Lyn DeGraff.

Volunteer! Then Come Back to Campus This Fall

Consider volunteering to help with the 50th Reunion yearbook, event planning, or the class’s fundraising efforts. If you’d like to get involved, please contact staff liaisons Tiffany Stowe or Lyn DeGraff P’10.5, ’13.5.

Planning for your 50th Reunion kicks into high gear at the Alumni Leadership Conference (ALC), October 18-21. As volunteers, you’ll be the guests of the College. The 50th Reunion volunteers arrive at Bread Loaf on Thursday evening and spend the weekend planning the Reunion. You’ll also have the opportunity to meet with President Laurie L. Patton, mingle with students at the Harvest Fest, and cheer on the Panther teams.

Honor the Tradition. Shape the Future.

As you think about your landmark 50th Reunion, remember...
- The classes you loved,
- The professors who inspired you,
- The friends you made,
- The campus and community you cherished,
- The dreams you were encouraged to pursue.

Your education was made possible by generations of people who came before you. There’s a long tradition of 50th Reunion classes helping to shape Middlebury through their philanthropy. This is a time when alumni reflect on their lives, recall their Middlebury experiences, and help make the opportunities they enjoyed available to the next generation of students.

Planning takes time, and it’s not too early to begin exploring the options for making a special Reunion gift. Contact Tiffany Stowe and her colleagues in the Office of Gift Planning or your Class Gift Committee coordinators, David Dodge and Mary Wendell.
