

Middlebury College

Dear {{Preferred}},

We are so excited to have you be part of the Middlebury College community.

There's a lot happening in the world right now. While we are busy planning for what the fall at Middlebury might look like, we know it might be hard for you to make your plans. Rest assured, we're here to answer your questions and to help you get connected to Middlebury.

Middlebury President Laurie Patton will make a decision about what our fall start will look like by June 22. We are cautiously optimistic and are hoping to have a safe, secure, and open campus this fall. We will continue to be guided by the expertise of our health officials, public orders issued by the state of Vermont, and recommendations of the Centers for Disease Control. (You can read the President's full announcement here.)

Between now and Move-In Day (in September or in February, if you're a Feb), you'll hear regularly and directly from our orientation team through your Middlebury email account, and also on our social media platforms.

Though right now you may feel unsettled, you can and need to do a few things now to make sure you have a smooth arrival to Middlebury.

Most importantly, you'll need to complete your Prearrival Checklist. If you're arriving in September, you'll need to complete these tasks soon; if you are a Feb, you can complete some of your prearrival tasks now, and others will wait until the fall.

Here's what to do:

- Access your Prearrival Checklist on BannerWeb, Middlebury's online database for academic and personal information.
- Log in to BannerWeb using your Middlebury email and password.

- Fill out the Prearrival Checklist required forms. These forms ask for items such as contact information for your family, your health forms and insurance information, housing questionnaires, and how to submit your ID photo.
- Doublecheck your deadlines (on BannerWeb).

If you have questions or need help, please contact us!

Sincerely,

Your Orientation Planning Team
