

Recipients of Lilian Stroebe Centennial Recognition Medals during the Language School Centennial Celebration, July 10-20

Jessica Beinecke, former Chinese School and School in China attendee and Voice of America broadcaster

Elizabeth Bernhardt, director of Language Center and professor of German at Stanford University

Christa Bryant, journalist, Nieman fellow, and former School of Hebrew attendee

Jeffrey Cason, professor and dean of Middlebury's international programs

Rosemary Feal, executive director of Modern Language Association

Michele Forman, high school teacher of world history and Arabic language

Philip Geier, executive director and co-founder of the Davis United World College Scholars Program

Aline Germain-Rutherford, chief academic officer at Middlebury Interactive Languages and professor of linguistics

Junki Hibiya, president of International Christian University (Japan)

Michael R. Katz, former dean of Language Schools and Schools Abroad, and professor emeritus of Russian

Elizabeth Karnes Keefe, assistant dean of Language Schools and Centennial co-vice chair.

Stacey Kent, vocalist and former attendee of the Portuguese School

William Kieffer '64, trustee emeritus and co-chair of the Centennial

Catherine Lee '92, trustee and executive with Stena Line Group

Michael Lettieri, former director of the Italian School

Judith Liskin-Gasparro, associate professor at University of Iowa and former Spanish School attendee

Charles MacCormack '63, Middlebury executive in residence and former president and CEO of Save the Children

Scott Markowitz, international banker and former Japanese School attendee

Stephen Martus '86, commercial and investment banker and former attendee of Italian School and School in Italy

William McAndrews, BMW executive and former Spanish School and School in Spain attendee

Scott McGinnis, academic adviser and professor at Defense Language Institute

Driss Ouaouicha, president of Al Akhawayn University (Morocco)

Vardit Ringvald, director of the School of Hebrew and director of the Middlebury Institute for the Advancement of Hebrew

Benjamin Rifkin, former director of the Russian School

Frank Sesno '77, trustee, former journalist with CNN, and director of George Washington University's School of Media and Public Affairs

Helene Songe '04, official with United Nations Relief and Works Agency and former Arabic School attendee

Donald Steinberg, president and CEO of World Learning, Inc.

Carolyn Tager MA '66 (French), a former World Bank executive

Caroline Travalia, DML '05 (Doctor of Modern Languages) and professor at Hobart and William Smith Colleges

Art Troitsky, Russian journalist and music critic

Roberto Véguez, professor emeritus of Spanish and long-time Language Schools administrator

Abigail Washburn, musician and former attendee of the Chinese School

Adrian Wooldridge, journalist, The Economist