

Proposal for a James M. Meyer Grant Winter Term, 2024

The James M. Meyer Grant Fund offers financial assistance for ENGL majors, or students who have taken at least three creative writing workshops. This grant is intended to fund travel during Winter Term for the purpose of producing a work of creative nonfiction writing in preparation for a senior thesis or independent study. Recipients who successfully complete their research will receive a 500-level CRWR credit along with the grant.

Please note that, new for 2024, you may only use these funds for your own travel and research. Anyone who participates with you and who is not involved in your project must pay their own expenses. If you have questions about this, please contact Jay Parini at parini@middlebury.edu.

Your project proposal must be emailed to Molly Johnsen mjohnsen@middlebury.edu by noon on October 20th, 2023.

Your name:

I.D. Number:

Month and year of graduation:

Email:

Creative Writing (CRWR) workshops you have taken. Please list the class title, instructor, and your grade.

- 1.
- 2.
- 3.

Project Title and Travel Destination:

Faculty Advisor/Supervisor:

Description of Proposed Project, including travel plans and projected budget:
(Please also attach a 10-page sample of your nonfiction writing)