New Student Orientation

Hello!

The New Student Orientation Team just sent your new Middlebury student their first email about what to expect in the coming months and how to prepare for Orientation.

We're sharing highlights from that content with you here. We will be sending you copies of all the Orientation emails we send to students so that you can know what their responsibilities are before they arrive at Middlebury.

The New Student Onboarding Course

Your student will need to complete our New Student Onboarding Course modules and assignments by the listed due dates before coming to campus. Fall arrivals have now received access to this course. Spring arrivals will be given access mid-October.

Students must complete these assignments in order to register for classes, fill out housing forms, and access information about support services and programs. Some assignments, such as placement exams, should be completed now (for fall arrivals).

Note: If your student will be without access to the internet for extended weeks or months over the summer or fall prior to their arrival, they need to complete this form immediately. We'll use this information to connect about any tasks they will miss.

Orientation Arrival and Orientation Communication

See our website for the most up-to-date information about arrival schedules and other information. Please review our FAQ page for helpful answers to questions you may have.

See you soon,

Erin Morrison
