

LOST SHARKS

Dave Ebert, Ph.D has devoted his life to studying the ocean's most elusive, dangerous and yet fascinating predator – the shark!

His travels of exploration have led to the discovery of over 50 new shark species. Author of 30 books, including the popular “Sharks of the World”, he’s a regular on Discovery Channel’s Shark Week “Alien Sharks” series. Dave’s stories are compelling and humorous, whether dining with royalty or with fishers in remote villages. He brings the audience along on a personal journey in telling vivid stories of exploration, discovery, and travel from his most recent expeditions.

EXPLORER

Internationally recognized as an expert on sharks and known as the “Lost Shark Guy” for his discoveries, Dave has led numerous expeditions across major oceans, on six continents, and in over 30 countries. He has led expeditions to find some of the rarest, most elusive sharks in the world, and has even discovered new species while filming documentaries on location.

SPEAKER

Dave has given hundreds of presentations, including keynotes, to business leaders, organizations, universities and schools. He tells stories of exploration, discovery, and travel in his search for lost sharks. His presentations go beyond just the stories and experiences from his expeditions as an explorer, but are intertwined with an inspirational message. He shares with the audience how his journey has influenced his life, has brought him to where he is today, and how an adventurous spirit can help them pursue their passion and get more out of life.

MEDIA

Dave is a frequent guest and consultant on major media programs for the BBC, National Geographic, and Discovery Channel’s Shark Week series “Alien Sharks”. He’s appeared and consulted on highly acclaimed programs such as the BBC series Shark and Blue Planet II, is also a frequent guest on various media outlets including ABC’s Good Morning America, NBC Bay Area, Discovery Canada, Forbes, Washington Post, Wired, and on popular podcasts.

“Jaws made studying sharks cool, but Dave Ebert takes shark discovery to the next level” – Alexis Brown, Host of My Ocean podcast, OceanWise, Vancouver Aquarium

“Dave is an inspirational scientist who engages people with his passion” – Cathy Clarke, Director, BBC series Shark

AUTHOR

Author of 30 books and over 500 publications on Sharks and their relatives the rays and ghost sharks, and a co-recipient of the Whitley Medal for best book on Natural History of Australian Animals. Visit Dave’s author page for more information on his books.

- Sharks of the World
- A Pocket Guide to the Sharks of the World
- Sharks, Rays, and Chimaeras of California
- Sharks of Arabian Seas
- Guide to the Sharks and Rays of Southern Africa

ACHIEVEMENTS & HONORS

Director of the Pacific Shark Research Center at Moss Landing Marine Laboratories, Dave was awarded Mentor of the Year at California State University Monterey Bay “For his inspiring commitment to student achievement, and his leadership fostering research and educational partnerships”.

- President, American Elasmobranch Society
- Scientific Advisor, United Nations
- Executive Committee and Regional co-Chair, IUCN Shark Specialist Group
- Honorary Research Associate, California Academy of Sciences
- Honorary Research Associate, South African Institute for Aquatic Biodiversity

CONTACT

To schedule Dave to appear, speak or consult contact him at:

- dave@lostsharkguy.com
- 831.227.2722

lostsharkguy.com