

Middlebury Bread Loaf
School of English

FACULTY FUND

for Bread Loaf Financial Aid Recipients

Funding: The Middlebury Bread Loaf School of English Faculty Fund is intended for returning students who will be studying at the Bread Loaf School of English in summer 2020. The Faculty Fund has been established to support recipients of financial aid who, due to exceptional circumstances, still have outstanding need.

Eligibility: To be eligible, applicants must be returning students in good standing who have been awarded Middlebury financial aid. Priority is given to those who have not previously received Faculty Fund support, and applicants must indicate how they intend to fund the remainder of their Bread Loaf studies.

Awards: Faculty Fund provides modest awards that supplement financial aid. Applications will be considered in two rounds: on March 1, 2020 and April 1, 2020. Recipients will be notified shortly after decisions are made.