

Middlebury
College

Presented by the Rohatyn Center for Global Affairs

New Directions in the Study of Global Police Power

FRIDAY

OCTOBER 1, 2021

9 am–4 pm ET

9:00 am

OPENING REMARKS

Mark Neocleous and Alex Vitale

"Studying Police Power: Enduring Questions, New Directions"

9:30–11:00 am

GLOBAL AND LOCAL POLICE POWER IN EAST ASIA

Discussant: Max Ward

Jeffrey Martin

"The Global History of Local Policing in East Asia"

Umemori Naoyuki

"Effects of Global Police Power on Meiji State Formation"

11:00 am–Noon LUNCH BREAK

(webinar will be back open at 11:45 am)

Noon–2:00 pm

POLICING THE TRANSITION: POLICE POWER IN COLONIAL/POSTCOLONIAL CONTEXTS

Discussant: Mark Neocleous

Radha Kumar

"Male Streets, Female Participants: Policing and Politics in 20th Century South India"

Amit Prakash

"French Connections: The Imperial Origins and Global Itineraries of the 'Oil Stain' Theory of Counterinsurgency"

Marieke Bloembergen

"The Javanese Policeman and the Indian Swami. Police Biographies, Police Reform, and Religious Knowledge Networks across Borders in Decolonizing Indonesia (1930s–1960s)"

2:00–2:15 pm

BREAK (15-minutes)

2:15–3:15 pm

AMERICAN POLICE POWER: AT HOME AND ABROAD

Discussant: Alex Vitale

Stuart Schrader

"The Global Policeman: U.S. Policing in Transnational Perspective"

3:15–3:30 pm

CLOSING REMARKS

Max Ward and Amit Prakash

Registration Link:

go.middlebury.edu/GlobalPolice

Sponsored by

Rohatyn Center for Global Affairs, Global Security Studies Program, Department of History, Department of Sociology, American Studies Program, Academic Enrichment Fund, Center for the Comparative Study of Race and Ethnicity