Investment to increase starting wages

Competitive for all

New system not directly tied to annual performance or minor adjustments to role

Focus on development

Opportunity for department leadership to weigh in on market data and how roles are benchmarked

Standard & Simple

Easily explainable and applicable to all staff

Repeatable

Something we can use this year AND going forward on an annual basis
Role mapped to market and min/max range established

Agnostic to individual

Skill matrix based on ownership and impact drives where individual falls into range

Guardrails in place
Job description update project
Job Descriptions

✗ Job description update project for all roles within the staff compensation structure

✗ New shortened, consistent format will remove burden of creating and keeping updated, aimed to highlight primary purpose and core responsibilities, not task list

✗ Move to twice/year review process to align rest of compensation/budget processes-and to build consistent call and review process with transparent outcomes

✗ Now publicly available on the HR website: https://www.middlebury.eduoffice/human-resources/self-service-resources/staff-compensation/our-program/job-descriptions
Market increases

NEW Market verification
Role mapped to market and min/max range established

Agnostic to individual

Skill matrix based on ownership and impact drives where individual falls into range

Final layer of discretion based on VP/Manager functional expertise

Guardrails in place
ALL ROLES WILL RECEIVE A MARKET INCREASE

This step will be based on the overall market movement and may also include specific roles that have shifted significantly and moved from one grade to another. Individuals in range will receive a market increase to remain aligned with the range movement.
MARKET VERIFICATION

HR will review the market and placement of all roles as a part of the annual market review process. An option has been added for leaders to request a Market Verification if there are outstanding questions/issues with a particular role.
Change to discretionary step with option for one-time payment
ROLE

Role mapped to market and min/max range established
Agnostic to individual

INDIVIDUAL

Skill matrix based on ownership and impact drives where individual falls into range

DISCRETION

Final layer of discretion based on VP/Manager functional expertise
Guardrails in place
Based on feedback, for those that are above range max...

✗ This year there will be a NEW change so that is it possible to apply discretionary amounts to above range maximum in form of one-time payment

✗ This means that STEP 3: DISCRETION can now be applied to anyone, regardless if someone is over the maximum of the range...

✗ ...if the individual is over the maximum, instead of it being a base compensation increase, the discretionary amount will be paid as a one-time payment in lieu of increase to base pay

Skill Matrix Philosophy

✗ The skill matrix is a tool to place individuals into the range based on career progression—and, specifically, their level of ownership and impact.

✗ Elevates a culture of high performance and ability to focus compensation conversations on skills and competencies—questions on how to increase pay can tie back to results and are transparent.

✗ Calibration across the institution on skill matrix—goal is to move people to ‘thriving’ and have that be at midpoint of grade range.

✗ Each year, market is reviewed, and ranges may be adjusted—and skill matrix will consistently be tied to percentage into range. This will result in market increases for all staff in the ranges each time there is a market adjustment.

Who has achieved significant career progression in the past year in terms of ownership and impact?

This is the list of people who will shift up a level in the skill matrix. All others will remain in the same place but will still be eligible for a raise through Step 1: ROLE (based on market) and Step 3: DISCRETION (as available).
We expect roughly 10% of staff will shift in career progression and therefore skill matrix placement each year.

This will be tracked/monitored when SLG members complete skill matrix placement in Axiom leading up to final decisions—and this will be reviewed institutionally by SLG and HR.

No department or area will be able to be a significant outlier.

This is not intended to calibrate or hold people back in a pre-defined way, but rather is a realistic and necessary target to name and check ourselves to ensure consistency within and across divisions and not over inflate movement in a way that risks the overall approach.
Let’s Focus On Moving our mindset from Annual Performance Review to Career development Skill Matrix

FAQs
Doesn’t the skill matrix really reflect performance?

Skill matrix placement reflects:

• Where you are in terms of your overall career progression, it is about the arc of your career, not one year.

• Your skill development and your level of ownership and impact in role over a proven, consistent period of time.
How do we center ongoing hope, learning, and recognition for outstanding folks?

Base compensation is important, we all know that. We need to get this right and ensure that we are paying fair and market informed rates that reflect the role and the level someone is at in their career.

But, there is so much more to it! We should be celebrating the small and the big things because we know that people want and need to feel valued, appreciated and seen in their jobs. We have lots of tools for this—from a quick email or thank you chat, to using our emerging rewards and recognition programs, to investing time, energy and resources into development conversations and professional growth.
How will the skill matrix be applied?

Leaders and supervisors should ask themselves and their teams this question: Who on your team has achieved significant career progression in the past year in terms of ownership and impact?

Once you have this list, pressure test it. Does each person stand out as achieving a significant career milestone this year? Or were they put forward because of a specific, annual contribution that should be recognized but not through the skill matrix? Refine the list.

Once refined, check again. Can you explain why this individual or these individuals should move? Can you speak to why others are not moving?

Finally, are you aligned with your leadership and supervisors? It is critical that you are working WITH your leaders and not in a vacuum.
Who has the final responsibility/authority for skill matrix placement?

Responsibility and authority sits with the SLG member who is completing the Step 2: INDIVIDUAL in Axiom as part of the compensation process.

It is critical that SLG members work with and align with leaders/supervisors in making decisions. SLG members have final authority but should be able to explain if there is a difference of opinion. It’s important we use this waterfall approach to ensure that clear and consistent messages are communicated from leadership to individual employees.
Pathways to increase individual compensation

- STAY IN ROLE
  - Continue to deliver as outlined
  - No significant movement in ownership or impact

- BUILD SKILLS IN ROLE
  - Within role, increase level of ownership and impact

- EXPAND SCOPE/ROLE
  - Scope and/or role has changed from existing role

- MOVE TO NEW ROLE
  - Move within department or across Institution to a new role
  - Promotion to new role requires budget approval

- No change to placement, market adjustment if applicable
- Move within skill matrix, move up in range
- New role requires new benchmark and skill matrix assessment
